Foreword

Someone has said, "Youth is a wonderful thing. What a shame to waste it on children."

We beg to differ.

The youth of today appreciate their position and their advantages.

During our school days we have kept step with the times in fashions, fads, world conditions, and personages—all have left their imprints. We have witnessed social changes in our family, community, nation, and world. We have witnessed material changes from hair-dos to supersonic power.

In keeping step, much has been contributed to our way of life and our patterns of thinking.

In this Arena,

we wish to preserve for you, the reader, the imprints of keeping step in Paris High School in the year 1952-53.

Paris Public Schools

The Front ADMIN

The richest treasure of our American heritage is the democratic way of life. Within this heritage lies our pledge to public education, a pledge which has grown stronger with the years. We believe that our public schools are our chief and most effective means of making this democratic way of life fully meaningful in the lives of succeeding generations. The success with which the public school does its job depends upon the interest and support of all the citizens in the community it serves.

PARIS BOARD OF EDUCATION—DISTRICT No. 95

Offices STRATION

The more the school does for the student and the more the student does for the school, the greater is the imprint left on each by the other. The school exists to serve its students. It should stimulate thought and give factual knowledge and experience in problem-solving. It should establish habits of cooperation and civic obligation. Speaking more materially, the school grants a diploma to each graduate, a prerequisite for almost any field of endeavor. The students, too, leave imprints of their individual and group achievements—records of grades, medals, and trophies earned in the classroom, in athletics, in the arts and crafts. There are fine school traditions of achievement passed from one group to the next. Each of us in Paris High School should realize the importance of the imprints he daily makes.

JOURNALISM

SPEECH

Orville Washburn and John Bizal display scrapbook made in a junior English class. The unit concerns hobbies.

The TIGER TALES, edited by the journalism class, is made up at the local BEACON-News office.

Local professional and business men discuss the qualifications, benefits, and educational requirements of various positions. This program was part of a career unit of the freshman English curriculum. Left to right: Mr. Ward Dillavou, Mr. Charles Heath, Miss Dorsett, Mr. James Pettitt, and Mr. Jay Kaiserman.

Directed by Miss Shirley Nelson, "Casey at the Bat" is the subject of this outdoor class dramatization. Miss Nelson and Miss Laverne Lennon, from the University of Illinois, were student teachers under the supervision of Miss Hochstrasser and Miss Dorsett, in the senior and freshman English classes, respectively.

The bulletin-board is inspected by members of the senior class. Spelling, vocabulary, collateral reading, composition, and oral reports help make up the unit. Left to right: P. Curl, S. Doak, J. Englum, W. Brown, D. Zink, W. Chittick, E. Hinds, and E. Hardy.

EISENHOWER WINS! The senior civics and social problem classes sponsored a mock presidential election. Precincts were set up and the students registered and voted according to the local election laws.

World and American history are required of sophomores and juniors, respectively.

It is the practice of the senior civics classes to send representatives to observe the Paris city council in action. M. Mason, M. Sprague, G. Alexander, S. Straw, and F. Stotts seem absorbed at this meeting.

GENERAL SCIENCE

General science is a required freshman course which is a combination of important principles of all the sciences.

ALGEBRA

Each student looks like he knows the value of X or how old is Ann? Algebra and advanced algebra are offered as elective courses.

Sciences Mathematics

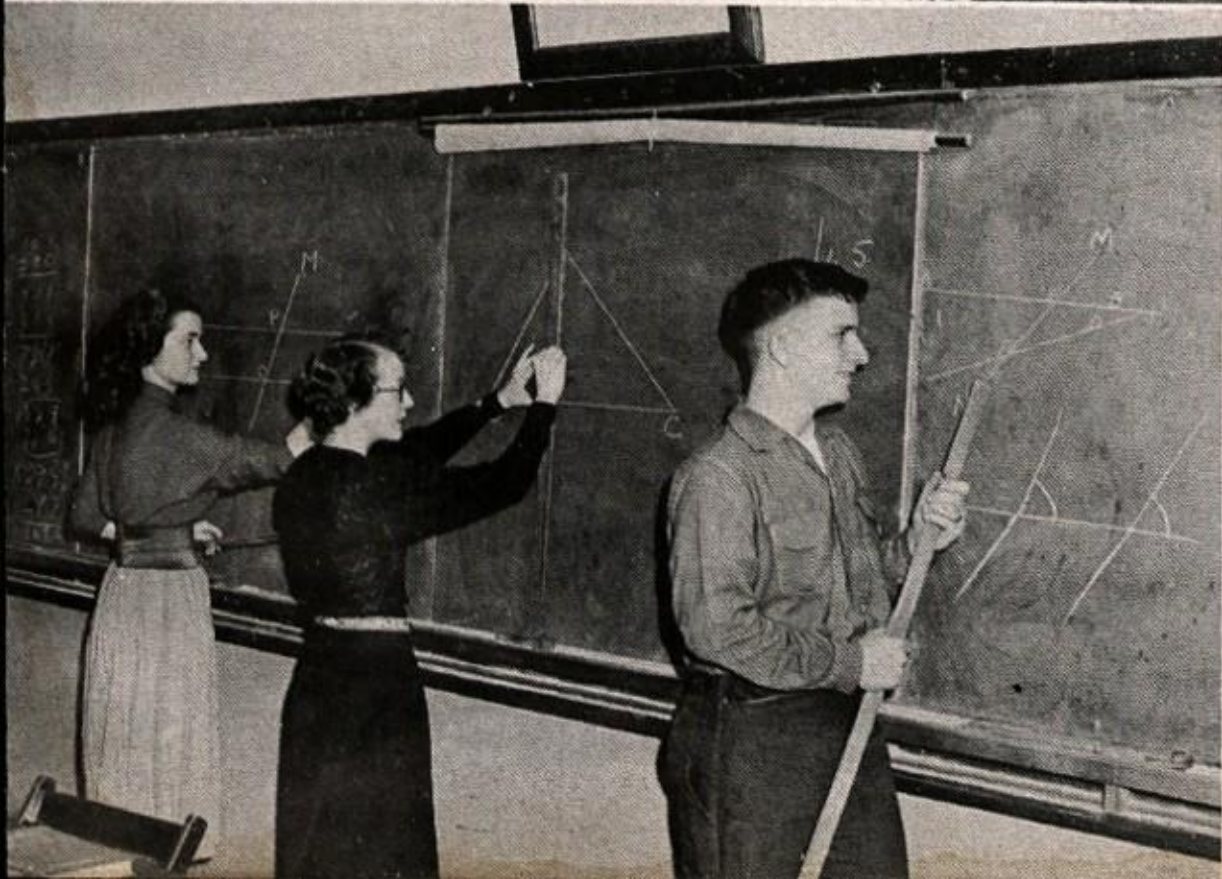

CHEMISTRY

This could be an explosive course! Chemistry, we mean. Students combine book study with laboratory technique.

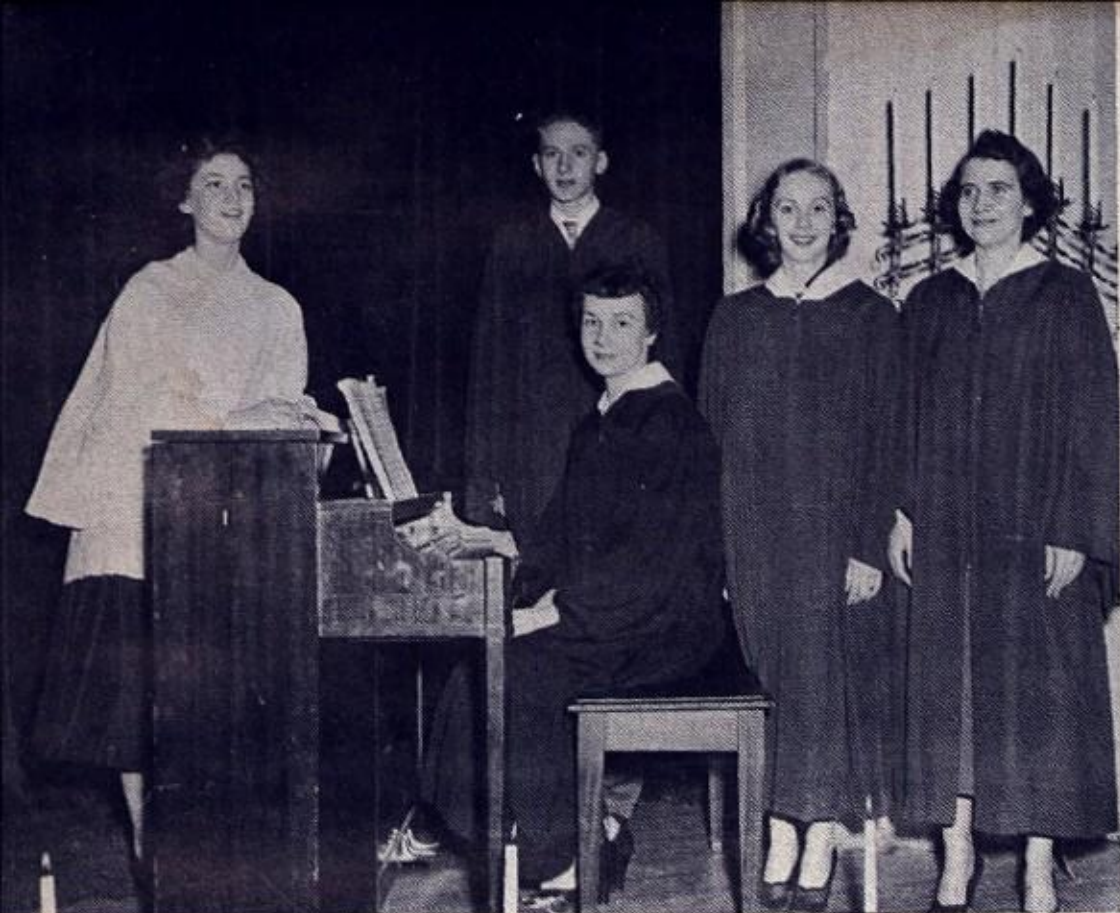

PHYSICS

At least there is one girl brave enough to take physics, an advanced science course open to juniors and seniors.

GEOMETRY

There are lots of angles in geometry, chiefly a sophomore course. Alternating with trigonometry, solid geometry is offered every other year.

Vocational Business Education

GENERAL BUSINESS

General business is an introductory commerce course. It acts as an exploratory course in which the rudiments of typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and other commercial subjects are introduced.

SHORTHAND—TRANSCRIPTIONS

Shorthand and transcriptions are required classes for the vocational commercial curriculum.

TYPING

"Peck-Peck-Return" carriage is the response from this typing class. Both personal and business typing courses are offered. Student learners develop skills in the use of the modern office equipment.

Preparing for secretarial careers, Marilyn Hopper, second from right, and Betty Whitkanack learn practical filing procedure in a factory office.

Mary Ann Savoree and Irma Tharp practice the theories of salesmanship in a variety store.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION—OFFICE PRACTICE

Distributive Education and Office Practice offer training for students who want to begin employment and careers in the field of merchandising and office occupations.

Corene Perry does secretarial work at the Chamber of Commerce—working toward Civic Promotion in Publicity.

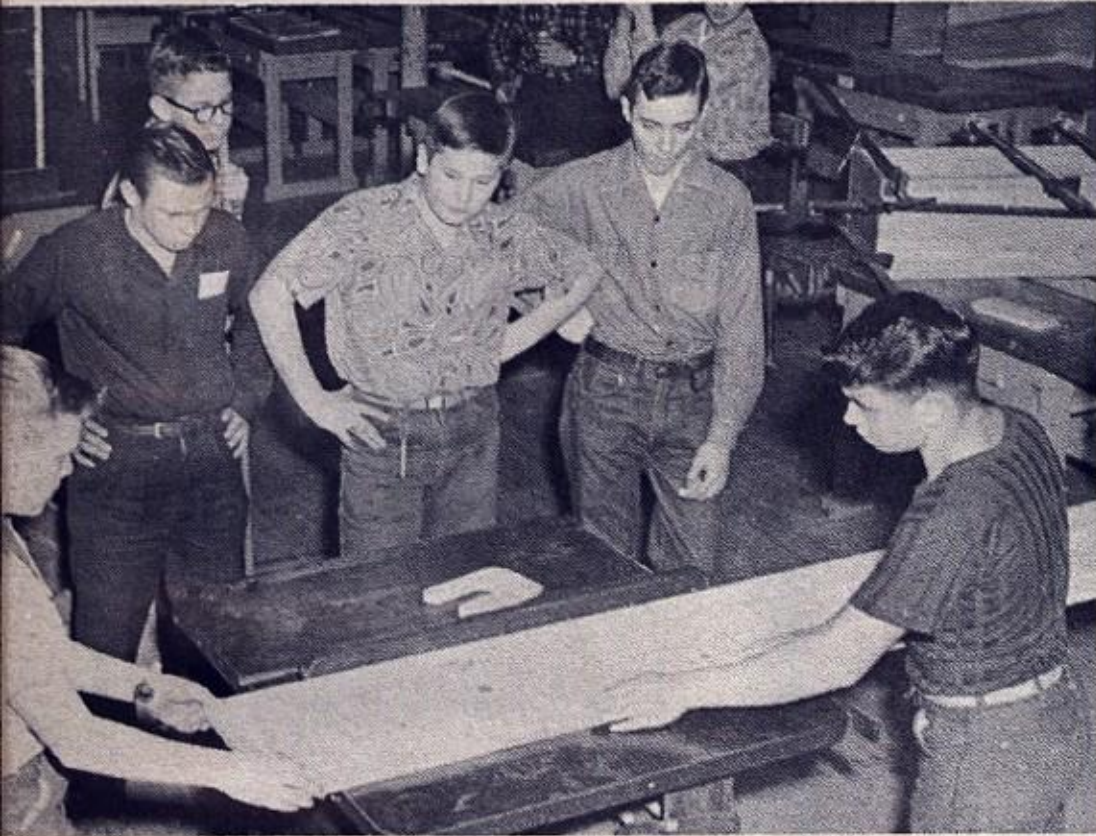

Sarah Wright, left, and Betty Cunningham get tips on the combination of salesmanship and office work in a variety store.

Pat Rhoads, left, sells "ready to wear" clothes in a ladies' dress shop.

Trade and Industrial Education

Industrial arts provides trade preparatory courses. These are "try-outs" for the more advanced apprentice trade courses, like diversified occupations or D.O.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS
MECHANICAL DRAWING
DIVERSIFIED OCCUPATIONS

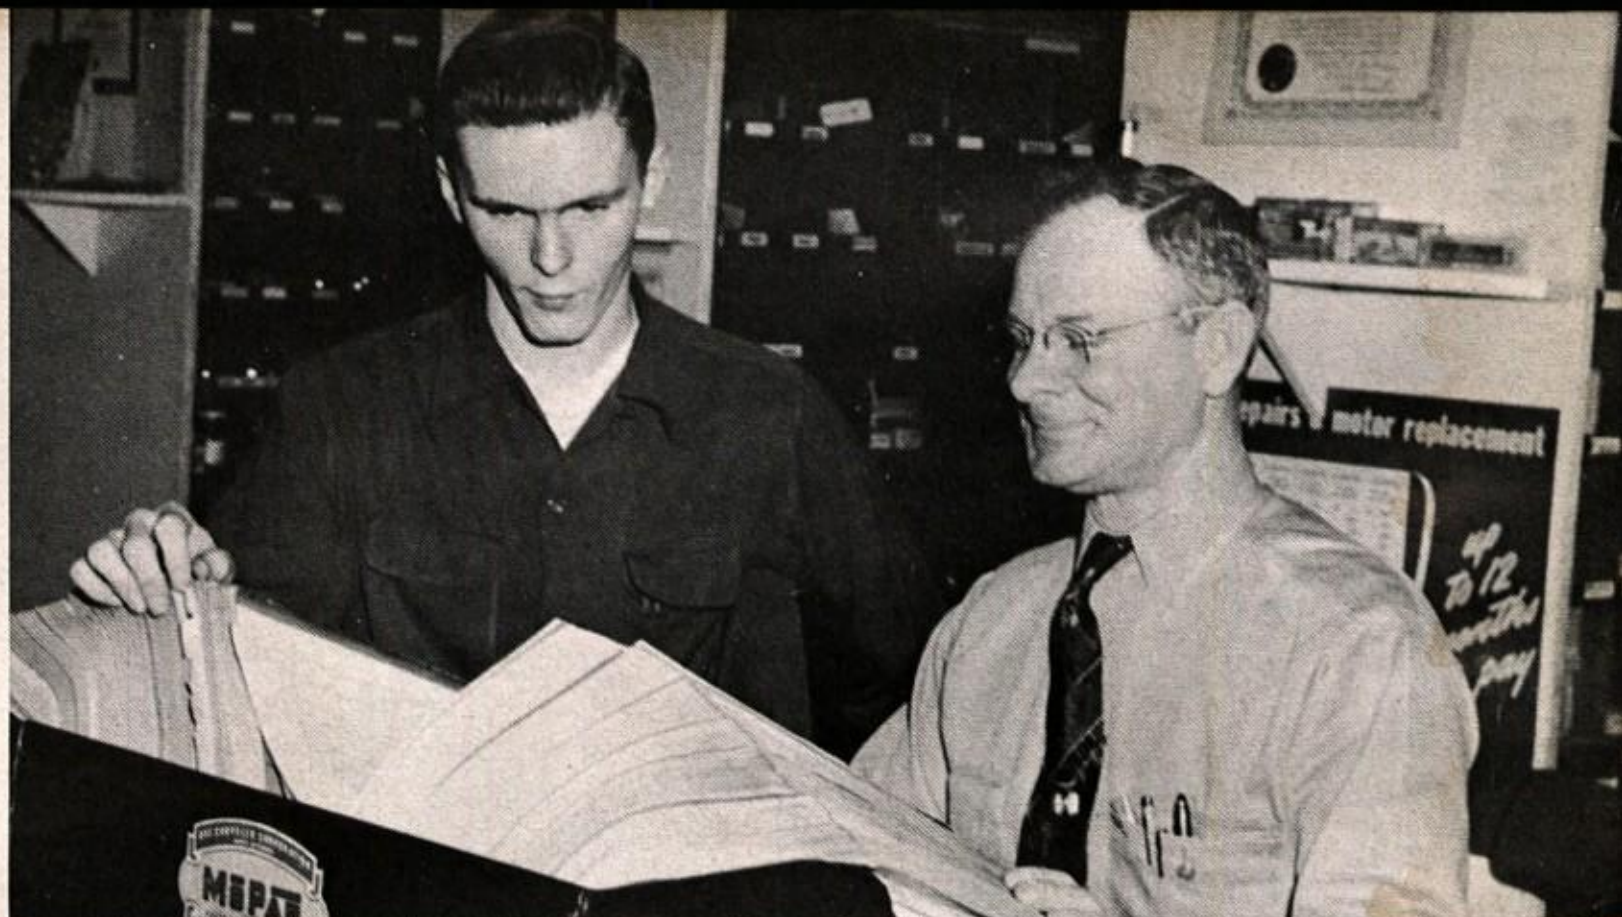

Practical uses of the tools and machinery are made.

Mechanical drawing provides a more specialized training.

DIVERSIFIED OCCUPATIONS

The diversified occupations course or D.O. provides instruction and initial employment in trade and industrial occupations.

Robert Beabout checks on automobile parts in the garage where he works in afternoons.

Time out for Dan Hall who serves as a mechanic in a downtown garage.

Charles Jones is certain not to "weigh his thumb" when at work as a meat-cutter in a local supermarket.

"Bang! Ouch!" is the response that comes from Karl Grisham as he learns mechanical techniques.

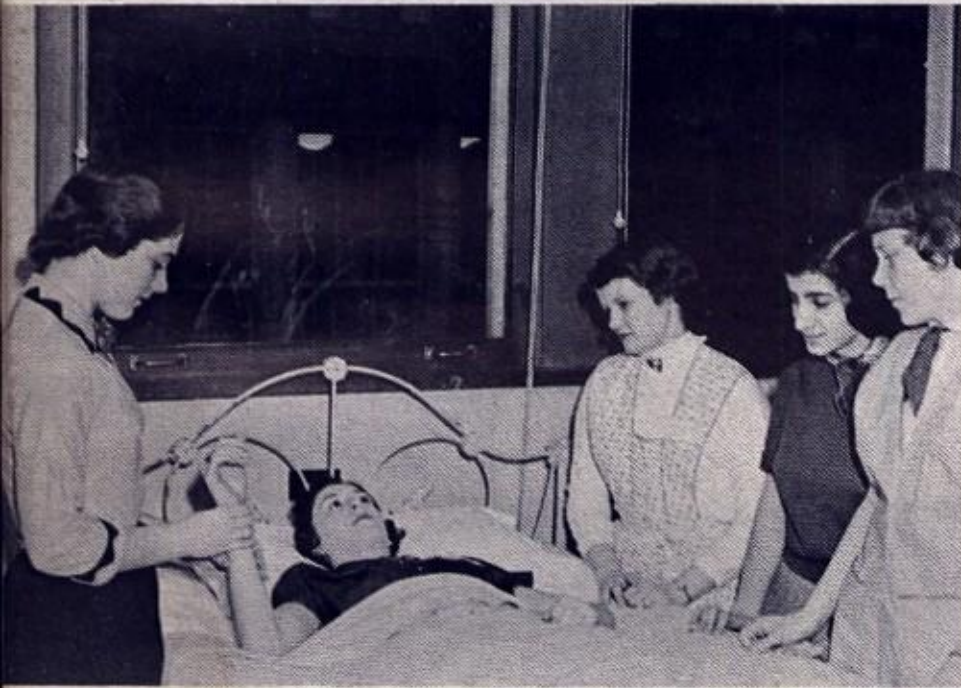

Vocational Home Economics

THE POT-AND-PAN BRIGADE

It should be tasty with so many fingers in the pie! Left to right: K. Pennington, D. Dowling, E. Howe, C. Hardy, D. Kemper.

HOME NURSING

Feel your pulse! This home-nursing class is ready for illness. Left to right: S. Toney, A. Foley, W. Wilhoit, M. Churukian, N. Melton, C. Ross.

CHEFS

A STITCH IN TIME

Vocational Agriculture

CLASSROOM

In the classroom, the students are presented with the study and solution of farm problems they may experience.

SHOP

In the school shop, students like Roger Wilson and Philip Bush develop skills in the mechanics and repair of farm machinery.

FARM

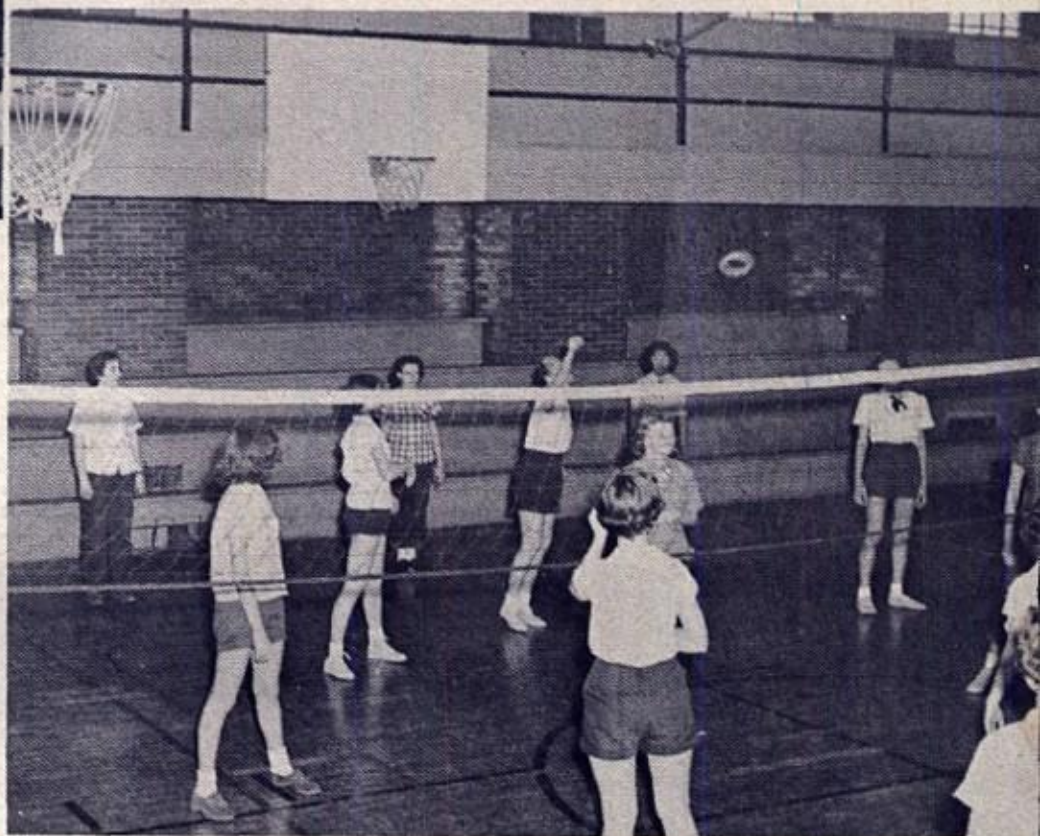

Each year the agricultural student is required to develop a project on the home farm.
Allan Landes raises Shropshire sheep.

GIRLS

Up! one, two, three. Down! one, two, three. Calisthenics, games, and May Fete routine compose the girls' physical education course.

Deck tennis provides team work, coordination and dexterity.

BOYS

Here we have the P.H.S. "strong men." Calisthenics, games, and practice in basketball, wrestling, and boxing are a part of the boys' physical education program.

Educational Aids

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

Participating in the annual Armistice Day program at P.H.S. are left to right: Mrs. McNees, Mr. Hatfill, Mr. Landis McCord, Mr. James White, Mr. Meridith Dean, Mr. James Trotter, Mr. Harry Weaver, Mr. William Goodwin, Mr. Wayne Jones, Mr. Gordon Cass, and Mr. Jenkins. This presentation typifies the civic program and lyceums which are presented to the students throughout the year.

LIBRARY

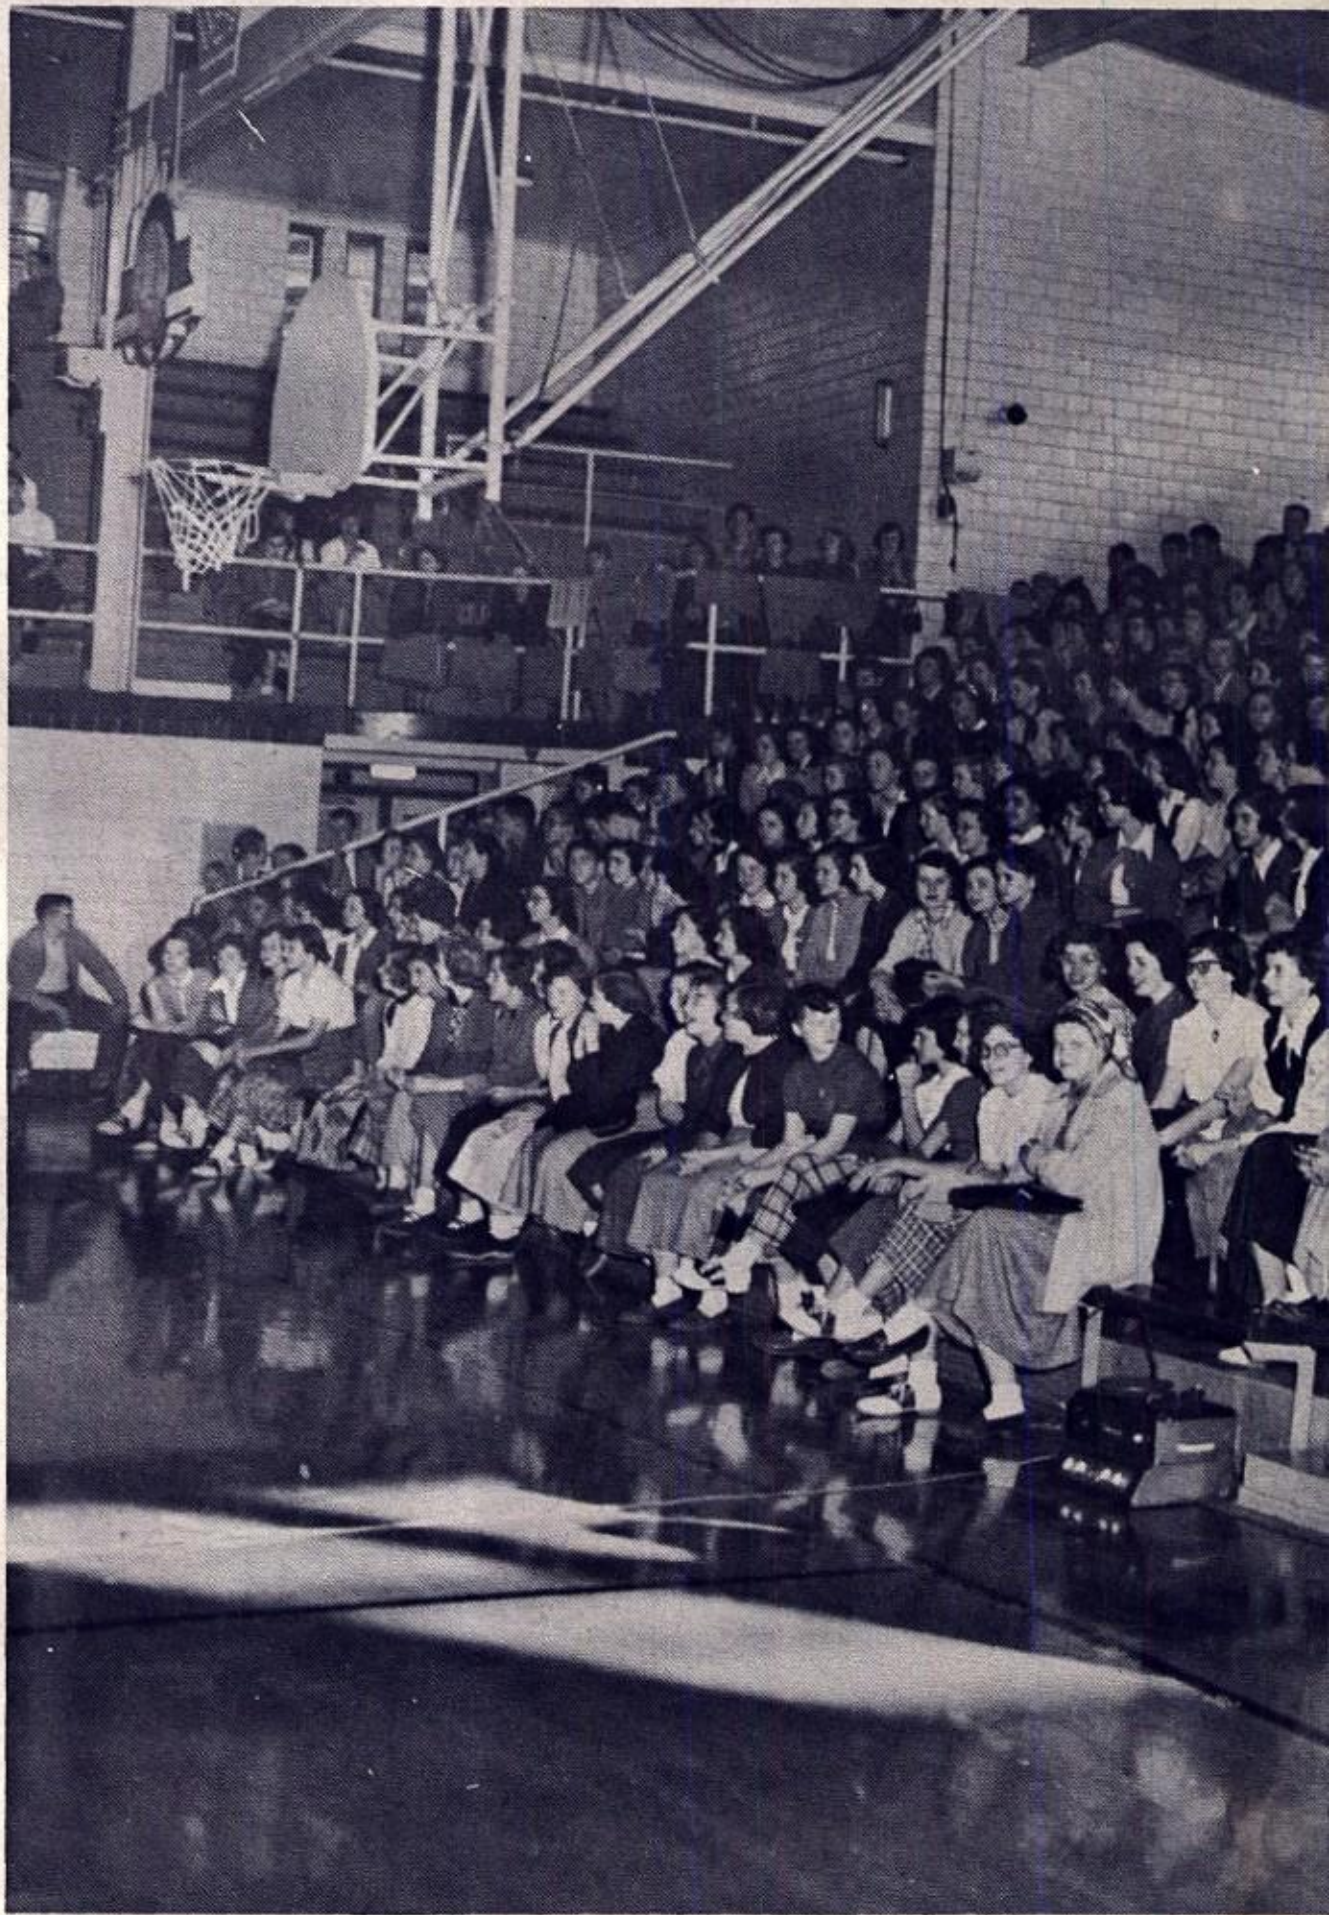

Like Clara Ross and Evelyn Nebergall, students make the library the focal point for reference and general reading. The P.H.S. library contains about 4,500 books.

DRIVERS' TRAINING

Jacqueline Hutchings and Sharon Gayer are tested for their driver's license by a state inspector. The one-semester driver's training course includes classroom instruction and supervised driving experience. In cooperation, automobile dealers furnish the cars for the course.

The New Field House

The Season's Thrills—and Chills

The 1952 football team, coached by Charles Tuttle and Leo Dooley and spirited by Captain Sam Doak, began the season by a 7-19 loss to Tuscola. For the next dual the Tigers traveled to Marshall for a 12-0 win. Next the Tigers played host to Eastern State and pulled through with a 14 to 7 victory. The Tiger's sunny skies were soon darkened by Casey with a 48 to 6 victory for the Warriors. The Tigers also came home from Effingham with another loss for the Flaming Hearts won by 14 to 7 score. On the big night of the annual Homecoming, the gridsters defeated Charleston 20 to 7 in a hard fought, fast-moving ball game. The Tigers, with another win under their belt, took to the road again and traveled to Georgetown, where the going was rough. The Tigers were defeated 13 to 9 on a last minute plunge. Next on the schedule was one of the most dreaded and yet the most highly anticipated games of the year—Robinson, but the Tigers bowed out with a 19 to 6 victory for the Maroons. The Tigers again fought a losing battle with Oakland, 34 to 0. The Tigers lost nine lettermen by graduation, but find thirteen men returning who have won a varsity letter.

Homeroom 34 had a prize-winning float: The End is Near.

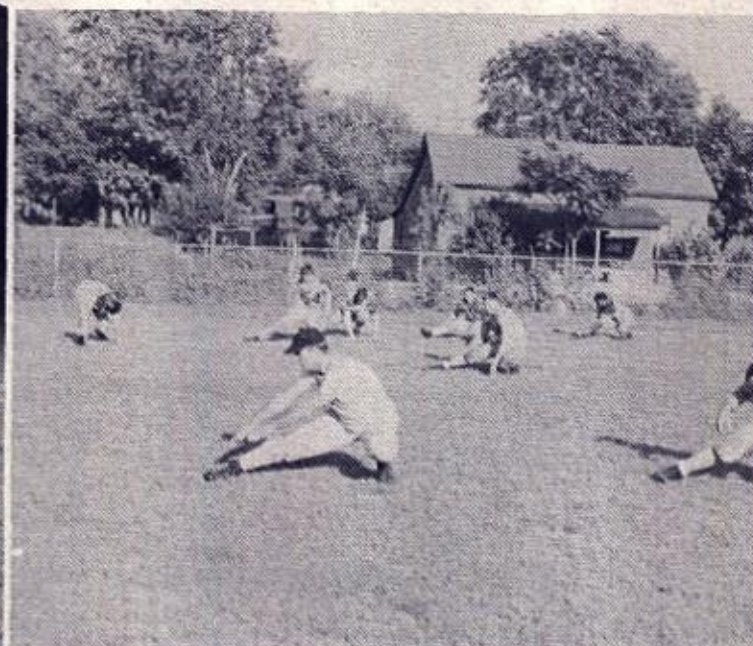

High up in the air, Mr. Stevens, high school math teacher, announces the Paris home games.

Lots of tumbling and tackling took place in the Paris-Charleston game.

You can't always win, but our boys did a good job trying in this game against Oakland.

Looks like Coach Tuttle has the football boys working hard in the pre-game practice which is held each afternoon.

Paris tries for a touchdown in that home-game with Charleston.

Cleats, Heats, Meets Track - 1952

1952 Track Team

The Paris Tigers, coached by Ernie Eveland, after a stiff spring training traveled to Casey to out-sprint the Warriors, 83-30. The Tigers were defeated at Wiley by a margin of 68-41. Paris took fourth in the Charleston Invitational Meet and then returned to Charleston to defeat them, 65-56. At our own Tigers Relays the thinclads placed fifth. Paris traveled to Terre Haute to wallop Tech. 90 2/3-18 1/3. In the Eastern Illinois Track Meet the Tigers came home with the second place trophy. At the Linton Relays, Paris was nosed into tenth place by the top teams in the state. In the Mattoon Relays, and Tigers were again outpaced and had to take seventh. Paris again nosed out by a Cumberland encounter, but rallied in the Urbana Relays to win second place. At the District Meet, the Tigers were awarded fourth place.

Louis Goins and Charles Matheny entered the state track meet and Matheny won the mile run in a fast 4:37.7.

Paris, Fourth—District Meet

A cross-country line-up.

The Tiger's Cross-Country team, coached by Ernie Eveland, had a season that was almost on the 50-50 basis—with six wins and four losses. The Tigers were somewhat inexperienced, although they held their own with some of the top teams in the state. There are several high-spirited runners that will be right up in the top berth next year when the Tigers again take off 'cross-country'.

Basketball

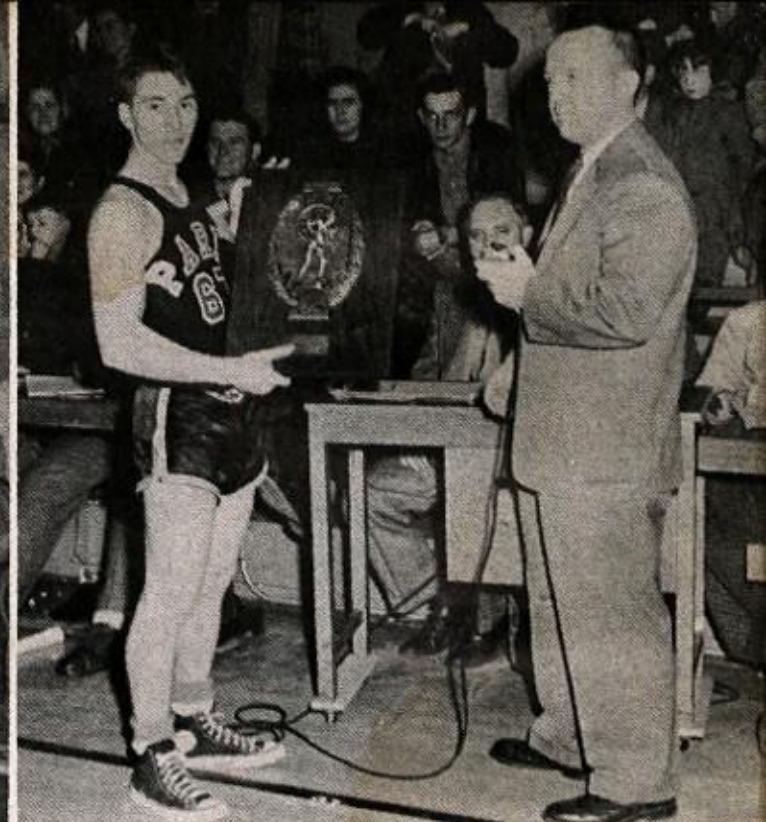

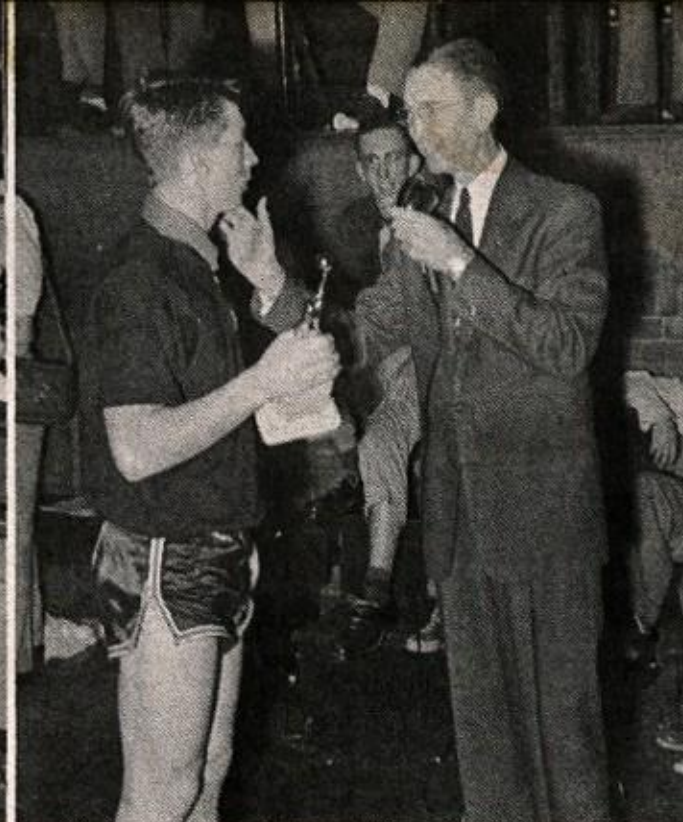

The Paris Tigers, coached by Ernie Eveland and assistant coaches, Joe Patridge and Bill Stevens, and spirited by Captain Mike Barr, were victorious hosts to the Oakland squad in the Thanksgiving opener, 49-43. Then the Tigers were topped by Schlarman, 43-63; to avenge this loss they defeated Shelbyville, 64-52. The Tigers were then visited by Canton who won in a 58-59 overtime.

The squad traveled to Monticello and returned with a 62-52 win. Then Mattoon barely stopped us, 54-55. A three-game winning streak began with the defeat of Hoopeston, 51-40; the Tigers edged out the Casey Warriors, 56-53, but were stopped again by Morris, 55-63. Back in the groove the Tigers defeated both Charleston, 56-53, and Lewiston, 41-38. After losses to Robinson 43-49 and Lawrenceville, 71-80, we took the Georgetown Buffaloes, 46-41, the Westville squad, 63-55, and Vandalia, 65-62. For the last game of the regular season the Tigers traveled to Flora and were defeated 54-56.

In tournament play Paris fared well with second berth in both the Holiday and E. I. Tournaments and a win in the regional. Halted by Lawrenceville in the Sectional Tournament, 58-69, the Tigers wrapped up the season for 1952-53.

May

Queen of the
May Fete

Fete

Lela Snyder

"THE PASSING YEAR" was the theme of the twenty-sixth annual May Fete, honoring the Queen of the May, Lela Snyder. The honor attendants were Wilma Simpson, who crowned the queen, and Norma Hinds, who presented her with the G. A. A. Good Sportsmanship Award. A program was presented for the queen and her court of senior girls.

The dances which reflected the months of the year were performed by the physical classes under the direction of Miss Doris Finke, assisted by Miss Estalene Meeker. In addition the first graders of Mayo School presented the May Pole Dance.

The Court

Mayo first graders dance and tangle about the traditional May Pole.

Santa brings his toys for "little girls and boys".

MAY FETE HIGHLIGHTS

Miss Meeker and Miss Finke receive flowers in token of appreciation from Luanne McHenry and Julia Owens, on behalf of the G.A.A.

"Swing your partner!" The "Virginia Reel" is typical of an autumn dance.

The "cooing couple," Clark Findley and Mary Ann Mattingly in "Late Date" kept the show rolling.

Rhythm Revue

The Rhythm Revue of '52 revolved around "The Sugar Bowl," a student hangout at Duper University. The production, sponsored by the Student Council, was directed by Miss Betty Lou Hunter and Miss Maude Dorsett. Proceeds of the revue were used for the public address system, a Student Council project.

Don't look now! But Wilma Simpson, Betty Bess, Sally Bloss, Mary Ann Mattingly, and Jane Ann Querry rolled 'em in the aisles.

The Grand Finale

Pat Raines and Eddie Henson, as "Me and My Shadow," added rhythm and sparkle.

Homecoming

Under the guidance of the Student Council and in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, the 1952 Homecoming was a gala event.

In the afternoon the students paraded with their home room floats. At a pep session held in the gym, Queen Florence Stotts and her attendants, Charlotte Carnahan, Mary Lou Sprague, Peggy Doak, Edith Conley, Georgianna Blume, Beth Pinnell, Emily Redman, Jane Collier, Patricia Saiter, Dixie Wilson and Judy Swanson were introduced. After the victory football game over the Charleston Trojans, the day came to a climax with the crowning of the Queen and a dance for the alumni and students.

Sam Doak, football captain, crowns Florence Stotts, queen of the 1952 Homecoming.

In traditional style aboard the city fire truck, the football boys join the parade.

Why all the soap boxes? Who knows! This float got a prize for being one of the cleverest.

"Your end is near" was the theme of this clever prize winning float.

Yes! 'tis most beautiful! and that's what the judges thought too.

Gala Evenings

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET-PROM

The Junior-Senior Banquet, with the theme "While Strolling Through the Park One Day," was held on Friday 16, 1952, under the direction of the Junior Class sponsor, Mrs. Scesna James. James Englum, the master of ceremonies, presided at the program given by the juniors who portrayed the prosperous life of the seniors—thirty years hence. On the night of the seventeenth, the juniors again played host to the seniors and their guests and all danced to the enchanting music of Lyle Mitchell's band.

In traditional style the Junior Class president, Don Simpson, crowns Ann Englum Queen of the 1952 Prom as her escort, Karl Kenney, Senior Class president stands by.

Yummy! Yum! Those junior and senior mothers can really cook.

A comedy skit added to the fun of the banquet program.

A few juniors and seniors with their dates take time out to relax at the prom.

The Grand March was the high-light of the Junior-Senior Prom.

Senior Night

A series of skits, presented by the senior members of the various clubs of the school and under the general direction of Mr. Charles Johnson, composed the program for the annual Senior Night. In their caps and gowns the members of the 1952 Senior Class lent a solemn note as they bade farewell to their friends and school.

Old time western cafe, complete with beautiful chorus girls.

G.A.A. senior girls portray an exciting event of the hill folks.
